If I Should Die To-night.

If I should doe to night My trend, we if look if on my quiet face Before they had it in its lest up place. And deem that death had left it a most fair, And, laving snow-white howers again t my Would smooth it down with tearfur tender-

And fold my hands with lingering coress Poor hands, so empty and so cold to-night

If I should die to-night, My friends would call to mind with loving Some kindly deed the try hand had wrought.

Some gentle word the frozen fips had said, Errands on which the willing feet had sped. The memory of my selfi-liness and pride, My farty words, would all be put aside, And so I should be loved and mourned to night.

If I should die to-night, Even hearts estranged wou'd turn once more to me, Recalling other days remorsefully Recalling other days remoscibility:

The eyes that child me with averted glance
Would look upon me as of yore, perchance.
And setten, in the old, family way.
For who could war with dumb, unconscious

So I might rest, for given of all to-night.

Oh, friends: I pray to-night.

Keep not your kisses for my dead, cold brow;
The way is lonely; let me feel them now;
Think gently of me; I am travel-worn;
My faltering feet are pierced with many a
thorn;
Exercise of hearts extranged forgive I plead;

thorn;
Forgive, oh, hearts estranged, forgive, I plead;
When dreamless rest is mine, I shall not need
The tenderness for which I long to-night.

Easily, Quickly, Permanently Restored.
